(September 21, 2010 Stillwater, OK) – Heather Austin, a fourth-year veterinary student at OSU's Center for Veterinary Health Sciences, recently competed in the Society for Theriogenology Student Abstract Competition held in Seattle, Wash. Austin placed 2nd for her presentation entitled, "Surgical correction of priapism in an 18-year-old Quarter Horse gelding."

[redacted]