The Horse, A Mirror of Man: Parallels in Early Human and Horse Medicine traveling version of the original exhibit is on display at the Oklahoma State University College of Veterinary Medicine's William E. Brock Library from now until Oct. 30, 2007.

Originally designed by the History of Medicine Division of the National Library of Medicine, the exhibit explores the parallels between man and horse in seven areas of medicine and anatomical illustration styles.

Everyone is welcome to visit the William E. Brock Library, located adjacent to McElroy Hall at the corner of McFarland and Farm Road, during regular library hours. The library is open Monday through Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 11:00 p.m.; Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; Saturday from 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; and Sunday from 1:30 p.m. to 11:00 p.m.

This "traveling" version is on loan from the American Association of Veterinary Medical Colleges. A more comprehensive online version of the exhibit is available at http://www.nlm.ni h.gov/exhibition/horse/index.html
